

That Salvation Army Smile

Several thousand veterans of the Argonne Forest recently entered New York harbor. Among them were several badly wounded Marines. One man, easily distinguished because of a coat sleeve that dangled empty at his side and a Croix de Guerre, was making his way slowly to the waiting ambulance when a Salvation Army girl approached him and offered doughnuts and coffee. "Now I know I am home," he said. "Those doughnuts helped a whole lot 'over there,' and, first crack out of the box when we land, we find more waiting for us. The best thing about the Salvation Army work out near the front line was the smile that accompanied the gift. Those girls had a knack of wrapping up every doughnut and every cup of coffee in a smile. The doughnuts were fine, but the smile—that took the place of powdered sugar." The Salvation Army Home Service Fund Campaign for $13,000,000 opens May 19, to last one week.

SALVATION ARMY VALIANT IN WAR

Having Served Gloriously in the Trenches, Is Coming Back From Overseas for Peace Time Activities.

ASKS HOME SERVICE FUND.

National Campaign to Replenish Resources Depleted by Long and Direct Contact Services With Our Boys Scheduled for May 19-26.

New York (Special).—Like the 2,000,000 American boys whom it served so gloriously in the trenches of France, the Salvation Army is coming back from overseas, ready to put aside its khaki uniform of war service, don again the "Civvies" and embark once more on its normal peace time activities.

And, just like those doughboys, the Salvation Army has come out of the war victorious and with citations for bravery, decorations for gallantry under fire and golden chevrons indicative of honorably won wounds on its arm. The victory which the Salvation Army has won is a victory over the obstacles that lay before it in its purpose of efficient service of the fighters of Pershing's army. Its citations are the thanks, cheers and prayers of 2,000,000 doughboys. Its wound stripes are rightfully golden of hue, for they typify the unselfish way in which the Army threw all its resources—financial, spiritual and moral—into the effort to help the American soldiers in France.

Now the Army is asking the people of America to give it concrete evidence of the gratitude which has been so loudly, and so willingly expressed. From May 19 to 26 the Salvation Army will conduct in the United States a campaign to raise $13,000,000 for its Home Service Fund. The money is needed both to recoup the fortunes of the Army, shattered by its long service of the soldier and to permit it to carry on the work it has always done on the larger scale which the public now demands. Raising the money by this means, the Salvation Army explains, will eliminate, perhaps permanently, the necessity for the ceaseless solicitation of funds which has been a bugbear to the Army and the public alike. It will permit the workers of the Army, who, forced to devote more than half their time to gathering money, were in consequence only half efficient in their evangelistic and social service work, to devote all their time in future to the duties for which they have been trained.

To Study Business.

Washington.—Thirty-five specially trained business agents of the Internal Revenue Bureau have been dispatched to all parts of the country to study commercial and industrial practices in certain lines of business with a view to advising on future regulations. These men chosen from a large group of accountants and business men after special examinations will be expected to ascertain practices in regard to amortization, depletion, depreciation and valuation of assets as of the pre-war period, and to formulate some sort of guiding rules concerning what constitutes "reasonable salaries" allowed as business expenses to corporations.

The amount of the fund has been determined exactly and logically by means of budgets prepared locally by workers of the Salvation Army in all parts of the United States.

Already headquarters for the campaign have been established in New York City. A ready response in encouragement and cheering wishes for success has been heard from all parts of the country. Men and women prominent in all walks of life have volunteered their services as active participants in the drive. The Army's 2,000,000 loyal rooters—the boys who went overseas in khaki—are all lined up ready to help. The Army not only helped them over there, but it found jobs for many of them after they had been mustered out of service, helped them get the civilian clothing that was necessary if they wanted to take those jobs, fed many of them, gave them shelter and furnished them with transportation to their homes.

For the war service of the Salvation Army is still under way. Its workers are still, many of them, in France, and its huts, clubhouses and hotels for the reception of the boys returning from abroad are in full swing here.

Neither, the Salvation Army asserts, will its war work be abandoned until the last boy is out of the khaki of the army or the blue of the navy. The larger activities which necessitated the coming campaign will exist and be financed independently of the service of the fighters from abroad.

CARDINAL GIBBONS ENDORSES S. A. DRIVE

Venerable Churchman Expresses Hope That $13,000,000 Will Be Raised.

The following letter was addressed to former Governor Whitman of New York state by Cardinal Gibbons:

"Honorable and Dear Sir—I have been asked by the local Commander of the Salvation Army to address a word to you as National Chairman of the Campaign about to be launched in behalf of the above named organization. This I am happy to do, and for the reason that along with my fellow American citizens I rejoice in the splendid service which the Salvation Army rendered our soldier and sailor boys during the war. Every returning trooper is a willing witness to the efficient and generous work of the Salvation Army both at the front and in the camps at home. I am also the more happy to commend this organization because it is free from sectarian bias. The man in need of help is the object of their effort, with never a question of his creed or color.

"I trust, therefore, your efforts to raise $13,000,000 for the Salvation Army will meet with a hearty response from our generous public. Faithfully yours,

"J. CARD. GIBBONS."

MODERN STUCCO STYLE OF HOME

Attractive Exterior With Unique Interior Arrangement.

SUITABLE FOR SMALL FAMILY

Design Calls for Six Rooms, but They Are What Might Be Termed "Regular" Rooms—Good Time to Build.

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 1827 Prairie avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only enclose three-cent stamp for reply.

Some one had advanced the argument that if every family in the country willed it, there would be few that did not live in their own homes. With few exceptions, tenants pay more in rent than it would cost them to buy the places in which they live. The owner of rented property must get as large a return on his investment as the same money would earn in interest, plus a profit to pay him for his labor and the cost of caring for the property. This expense is borne by the person who rents the property.

This is an exceptionally fine design for a house of this kind and size and those who build according to it will have homes to be proud of.

There is every reason why those who have been considering building a home should do so now. The government is urging that all building be started at once so as to give the returning soldiers employment. Converting the industries that were transformed into munitions factories during the war into their peace time state also has thrown many persons temporarily out of employment and building is looked to to keep these workers busy.

When it is considered that more than 80 per cent of the cost of a home is labor, it can readily be understood why building cannot be done now so cheaply as a few years ago. Nature furnishes the materials that go into a building, while labor fashions them into the required shape and condition. Just so long as the present wage level is maintained, so will the cost of building materials stay up. At that they are only 37 per cent more now than in 1913, when they reached a low level.

There is one thing that every person who intends building should do if possible. That is to consult an architect. These men are trained by education and experience to get the most for the money spent in building. The small fee the architect charges is saved many times over in practically every building, because the architect knows how it should be erected. Regarding materials, the lumber dealer is a good man to consult.

The first submarine boat was tested in Plymouth harbor in 1774.

The house itself is rectangular in the dimensions being 23 by 29 feet 6 inches, the broad porch giving it a fine appearance. The porch is 6 feet, but the overhanging roof makes it appear much larger.

The design for this house calls for only six rooms, but they are what might be termed "regular" rooms. The living room extends the full breadth of the house, being 23 by 13 feet. The entrance is in the center, while at one end are the stairs leading to the second floor. The fireplace is built into the exterior wall and has a right angle seat on one side. The dining room is reached through glazed doors at the right of the fire place. This is 12 by 16 feet, the buffet and two wall cases being built into one end. The kitchen, occupying the other corner of the building is also large, 10 feet 6 inches, by 12 feet 6 inches. The work table is underneath the double windows on the side, while there are cases on either side of it. The rear porch is of the same width as the kitchen and a place is provided for icing the ice box without entering the kitchen.

The second floor plan is similar to the first. The front bedroom is of the same size as the living room, extending the width of the house. Adjoining it, at the end of a central hall, is the bath room, while there are two other bedrooms, one on each of the two rear corners. Closets are placed in each of these rooms.

The basement extends under the whole of the house. Here rooms may be built to keep the heating plant separate from the other parts of the basement, which always is a good plan as it keeps the heat from the family food storage room.

exercised in picking the room arrangement, the materials of which the house is constructed and the design for the exterior. The number and arrangement of the rooms is influenced by the needs of the family and individual ideas of what a home should be. Selecting materials, however, is a matter that should be carefully weighed. Cheap materials for a home are more costly than good materials, for the simple reason that there will be a constant outlay for repairs if poor stuff is used. The exterior appearance, like the room arrangement, is a matter of taste.

For the person who likes stucco, or plaster exteriors, the house shown in the accompanying illustration will be favorable. Here is a modern city style house that is unusually attractive.

HOW U. S. SHIPPED SILVER

Director of Mint at Washington Tells of Precious Metal Sent Like Bricks to India.

Washington, May 24.—Now that the government has completed its war-time shipments to India of silver from melted dollars, the director of the mint has disclosed how thousands of tons of the metal were hauled from the Philadelphia mint to San Francisco in special trains guarded by armed men without loss of an ounce and without general knowledge of the procedure. Eighteen of these treasure trains made the trip across the continent in the 12 months that ended April 23, with the silver like big bricks piled high in each of the five express cars composing a special train. Two men with automatic pistols at their hips and sawed-off shotguns on their laps sat in each car, and later guarded the secret transfer of the white bars from train to ship at San Francisco. Each silver brick weighed about 62 pounds and was worth $1,000, and each train carried between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000 of the bricks. More than 265,000,000 silver dollars were melted and shipped to India during the year to meet urgent war demands for coinage.
